Anim Gulgee
Elysian Fields, 2022
NFT conceptuel de la vidéo en boucle perpétuelle
Courtesy the artist

Et bientôt Mythology entre into the Elysian Fields originally created by Anim Gulgee in 2022 as a video loop NFT. Here, the artist has expanded to admit the righteous and others from around the globe.

Divine authority also emanates from mixed fragments of the opening chapter of the Quran, the Isra, named for the Night Journey of the Prophet Muhammad. Here, the Prophet is led from the Ka'aba unto Yarmuk from a bit of black cloth. This deconstructed text rendered concrete yet illegible, is transformed by the artist into a kind of Rorschach test of the universe of life, particularly, without reference to any specific religion. Here, the Prophet is led to the Ka'aba and Anim Gulgee continues to globe wandering, Mihir Gulgee and Sanjay Gulgee.

The foundations of life, mortality, and belief are all invoked here, and Sanjay over them is the question of existence.

Dread Scott
White Male for Sale, 2021
NFT conceptuel de la vidéo en boucle perpétuelle
Courtesy the artist

White Male for Sale is a NFT of a white male on an auction block. Dread Scott's work is a critique of the sale of white male bodies as a commodity, and the subsequent auction of the NFT video.

Mythology also explores the history of commodification as a point of departure. During much of the history of humanity, human beings have been sold as slaves, and the auction block is a familiar image from the past. However, the unnamed person would be made to stand naked on the block, and the sale of white male bodies as a commodity is a critique of the commodification of black bodies and slavery.

Dread Scott's White Male for Sale NFT video is a slow motion shot of the auctioneer at the auction block, with the camera panning left and starting, relatively motionless as Black Lives Matter. The NFT is a critique of the commodification of white male bodies as a commodity. The artist also questions the whole history of slavery, capitalism and the commodification of human beings, and the auction block is a familiar image from the past.

Extending the conceptual project, the NFT was auctioned, and the auction was conducted by Sotheby's on Wednesday, October 7, 2021. The auction is part of the NFT and completed the project.
